

LOOKS LIKE DUFF WINS NOMINATION.

Close Vote in Race for Representative, as Reported.

Very Little Interest Manifested and no Conventions Held in Several Precincts.

Last Saturday meetings were called for all precincts in Ohio county by the Republican County Committee, to give the voters a chance to express their choice for Representative. There were three announced candidates, viz.: Will Park, Dr. J. A. Duff and D. Baker Rhoads. None of them made a thorough canvass and the result was that little interest was displayed by the voters. Four persons were given instructions. Dr. Duff leads with the field close to his vote. Mr. Park made a splendid race, and except that he was prevented from making any canvass, by sickness of himself and family, would undoubtedly have won out in the race. From the best information we have been able to obtain, the vote stands as follows:

For Duff: West Hartford, 7; Sulphur Springs, 6; Magan, 3; N. Rockport, 4; S. Rockport, 3; Select 4; Horse Branch, 5; Centertown, 6; Smallhouse, 2; Shreve, 3; Olanton, 3; Ceralvo, 2; Pt. Pleasant, 2; Narrows, 3; Render, 4; Arnold, 5. Total 60.

For Park: East Hartford, 7; Beda, 5; Cronwell, 5; Rosine, 8; Bartlett, 1. Total 29.

For Beard: East Fordsville, 6; West Fordsville, 5; Aetnaville, 2; Herbert, 1. Total 14.

For Rhodes: East Beaver Dam, 3; West Beaver Dam, 6. Total 9.

No conventions were held at McHenry, Ralph, Heflin and Buford, Cool Springs and Prentiss are unreported. Those precincts have a combined vote of 15. If Prentiss and Cool Springs held conventions the total vote of the county convention will be 119, and 60 will be necessary to nominate. Friends of Park claim that there was no convention held at Render, also. If this is true Dr. Duff will be one vote short of the nomination on the first ballot. There may be some slight change in the above returns.

Whittinghill-Holmes.

Prof. Roscoe T. Whittinghill, of Fordville, Ky., was united in marriage to Miss E. Vivian Holmes, at the home of the bride at Cupola, Miss., Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The bride is a teacher in the city schools of Cupola. Prof. Whittinghill is associate principle of the Owensboro high school where his services as teacher are highly prized.

Prof. Whittinghill taught for a time in Mississippi, and it was while there that he met Miss Holmes. They left the bride's Southern home after the nuptial rites arriving at Fordsville yesterday. Mr. Whittinghill is one of Ohio county's most promising young men. They will reside in Owensboro.

Among The Lodges.

The Woodmen of the World had a fish fry last week which was largely attended. Among those who made talks for good of the order were Dr. E. B. Pendleton, W. F. Stevens and W. C. Bennett.

The Maccabees had work for the degree team last night and a large attendance. This tent is growing at a steady rate.

Rough River lodge No. 110, K. of P. conferred the second rank on one candidate Tuesday night in an impressive manner. Three petitions for membership were received. The lodge had a splendid attendance.

The Red Men met at their Wigwag Wednesday night with a good attendance. Mr. A. E. Rankins, of Augusta, Ky., gave an excellent long talk. The Chiefs degree was conferred on one paleface. Costumes of Pure Indian style have been ordered and the Tribe will soon be equipped in an excellent manner. There will be work in the Adoption degree at the next meeting.

Hartford lodge No. 675, F. & A. M., at a call meeting Monday night conferred the Fellow Craft degree on two candidates. This lodge has determined to give a supper on Saturday night July 6, to which the ladies and neighboring lodges will be invited. Arrangements will be made to begin work at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and give all three degrees. The following committees have been selected to make all necessary arrangements:

On Programme: C. M. Barnett, Jno. T. Moore, E. B. Pendleton.

On Invitation: W. S. Tinsley, Jas. H. Williams, E. M. Woodward.

On Finance: D. E. Thomas, Rowan Holbrook, G. B. Likens.

On Supper: W. H. Moore, L. P. Foreman, J. C. Her, E. L. Bullington, W. F. Schupmire, Hooker Williams, E. W. Ford.

On Music: M. Bean, Z. Wayne Griffin, E. E. Birkhead, J. R. Pirle, R. D. Walker, Henry Long.

On Reception: C. M. Crowe, W. N. Stevens, W. E. Ellis, A. S. Yewell, J. P. Sandefur, J. C. Riley, V. G. Barnett, F. L. Felix, C. R. Campbell, J. H. Patton, Seth Moseley.

Rowe-Rice.

Mrs. Martha Rowe has announced the engagement and coming marriage of her daughter, Miss Carrie Rowe, to Mr. William F. Rice. The happy event will take place at the home of the bride near Centertown, June 18. Miss Rowe who is the daughter of the late W. F. Rowe is a popular and successful teacher. Mr. Rice is a popular and enterprising business man of Chicago, Ill. The Republican joins the many friends of the young people in extending hearty good wishes.

A JAIL DELIVERY NARROWLY AVERTED

Five Prisoners are Detected in Act of Removing Last Brick in Exit.

Last Monday night about 12 o'clock Jailer Oscar Midkiff was awakened by a stir among the prisoners confined in jail. He arose and went at once to the second floor of the jail building where the cells for prisoners are located. He found that a patch where the cell bars had been repaired from another attempted jail delivery had been removed and the five prisoners were out in the corridor and were apparently in the act of removing the last brick from a hole they had started through the brick wall. If this had been accomplished, and it would not have been nothing left except for the prisoners to crawl out the opening and slide down a rope made of the bed clothing, to the ground.

Jailer Midkiff guarded the prisoners until morning. When Mr. Midkiff took their breakfast to them about 7 o'clock, Buck Allen, who was serving out a fine, made his escape from jail by running out the door which Mr. Midkiff as usual left open. Allen ran by the jailer and started down Washington street with a fleetness of foot that would have been a credit to any pedestrian racer. As soon as the jailer recovered from his surprise he called to Mr. John King to catch the prisoner, who was at that time, passing his house. By this time Allen had passed King and was heading for the woods, but as soon as King understood what was wanted he started after Allen and as fine sprinting as was ever seen was had for about 300 yards and when nearing the foot of Walnut street King called to Mr. J. E. Fogle, who was looking after fencing, to stop the escaped prisoner. Mr. Fogle turned and said, "Wait till I get my gun." On hearing this remark Allen suddenly found he was short of breath and stopped.

There are five prisoners in jail and the jailer thinks that Luther White and Jack Hall were the leaders in the attempted escape. He is also of the opinion that Buck Allen's attempted run-away next morning was only a feeble effort to lure him away so that these parties might escape. White is under sentence of five years and Hall under sentence of four years in the penitentiary.

Ohio Circuit Court Reversed.

Frankfort, Ky., June 12.—Judge Settle writing, the court reversed the Ohio Circuit Court in a case of Viola Growbarger against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, and remanded for further proceedings. The suit was by appellant to recover $2,000 for the killing of W. L. Growbarger, her husband, by R. Flein Stevens, town marshal of the town of McHenry. The appellee company was surety on the bond of Stevens to the extent of $1,000. The court here says the action can be maintained, and is not limited to the amount stipulated in the bond.

A HORRIBLE CATASTROPHE.

Young Johnstown Flood Visits Gradyville Kentucky.

Twenty-one Lives Snuffed out in a Moment--Senator Nell's Great Loss.

Last Friday night a cloud burst in the valley of Big Creek, Adair county, almost destroyed the town of Gradyville. Several whole families being wiped out. Ex-Senator Nell lost his home and all his family, five in number. Senator Nell would have perished also but for the fact that he was away visiting a patient, being a physician.

All day long Sunday daring workers burrowed among the drift piles in search of the five bodies which remain unaccounted for. The search lasted into the night, and sorrow-stricken parents and kinfolk were compelled by darkness to give up the search until another sun, work beginning early next morning, in an attack on the drifts.

The desolation of the little hamlet is complete. While half the dwellings remain, and one general store, all other business enterprises were completely wiped out, and one-tenth of the total population was drowned. There has never been anything like a high stage of water before in Big creek, and never has even the cellar of a house been inundated. The disaster came in an hour, was gone in an hour, leaving desolation, bereavement and poverty in its wake.

Considered comparatively, the Johnstown flood was not nearly so destructive as was the cloudburst in the little spur of the Green river knolls.

The heavy rains which preceded the cloudburst and flood began on Friday evening about 8 o'clock. The rain continued unabated until 10 o'clock, when the cloudburst occurred, causing a score of deaths and comparatively wrecking thirteen buildings.

COUNTY CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

Interest on Increase--List of Officers for Next Year.

When we went to press last week the Ohio County Annual Sunday School Convention had just organized and gotten down to work. More genuine interest was manifested in the convention than any yet held in the county and Dr. Ford and those associated with him in the noble work are to be congratulated upon the good results from their devotion to the cause.

Prof. H. K. Taylor, of Louisville, Rev. H. B. Self, of Owensboro, and Rev. T. C. Gebauer, State Worker, of Henderson, all contributed to the interest of the meeting by their bright talks and helpful suggestions. Rev. J. Frank Baker, Rev. J. A. Lewis and Rev. A. B. Gardner, local pastors, and other home talent, joined in discussion of the various questions under consideration.

Fifteen schools were represented and the delegates were entertained by citizens of Hartford. The convention voted to hold the convention here again next year.

Friday afternoon the following officers were selected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. E. W. Ford; Vice President, Dr. S. D. Taylor; Secretary, and Treasurer, Miss Annie Patton; Superintendent Teachers' Training Department, Prof. L. N. Gray; Superintendent Home Department, G. B. Likens; Superintendent Primary Department, Mrs. Jno. B. Wilson; Superintendent House to House Visitation Department, C. M. Barnett.

The following resolutions were reported by the committee and unanimously adopted:

"We feel like the present convention has been a helpful one to all who have been fortunate enough to attend and hear the discussions of the different topics which are so important in Sunday School work, and by reason of the able assistance rendered by the visitors from other counties and the co-operation of many of the Sunday School Superintendents and teachers in our own county the conference will prove helpful in the ensuing year, and be a great blessing to the county and an honor of God. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend our thanks especially to the M. E. Church South at Hartford for courtesies extended in tendering its house and other church property for the services on this occasion. To Miss Mattie Barnett who has been so faithful and efficient at the organ. To Dr. E. W. Ford and Prof. L. N. Gray, Chairman and Secretary of the convention, for the satisfactory manner in which the meetings have been conducted. Rev. H. B. Self, Rev. T. C. Gebauer and Prof. H. K. Taylor for the able and instructive lectures during the meeting.

The Hartford Herald and The Hartford Republican, our county papers, their Editors and managers have rendered valuable services to the organization during the year, and have contributed greatly to the success of the work, and for these courtesies, which have been cheerfully extended by these papers, Resolved, That the convention express its hearty thanks.

Resolved, That we make a united effort during the next year by working and praying to create a stronger Sunday School sentiment and endeavor to have instituted in the Sunday Schools generally the important departments, Cradle Roll, House to House Visitation; Teachers' Training Class, Teachers Meeting and Home Department.

From the reports received in this Convention we are confronted with the fact that a large percentage of the precious boys and girls, men and women, are yet outside of the Sunday School, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, and each of us, put forth our sincere efforts in co-operation with the officers of this association to win these jewels for the Sunday School, for Christ and for the church.

Resolved, That during the coming year we will by agitation, invitation and prayer endeavor to arouse the people of the county to a realization of the great importance of Sunday School work, and secure a larger attendance at our next annual convention.

Respectfully submitted,
E. P. MOORE,
J. C. PARK,
G. B. LIKENS,
Committee.

ROCKPORT.

June 12.—Rev. W. A. Grant failed to fill his regular appointment here Sunday.

Misses Lillian and Nettie Monroe left for Dawson Springs where they will be the guests of their brother, Mr. Harry Monroe, for several days.

Mr. Arbuckle, of Heaven Dam, is in Rockport this week painting.

Quite a number of people from this place attended the children's day exercises at Pink Hall Sunday, and a few went on the Sunday excursion.

Notice.

The Hartford Magisterial District Union will meet the fourth Saturday in June, instead of the last, as heretofore announced.

This June 10th, 1907.

MANY VOTES CAST IN OUR CONTEST.

Result of Two Weeks Voting As Shown by Count.

We give below the standing of the candidates in our Jamestown contest, as shown yesterday evening by count of ballots. Many of the contestants have made remarkable gains. Some of those who came in late have received many votes and yet have good chances to win. Misses Rowe, Daniel and Williams have each made a good showing.

On the North side the race is a close one between Misses Willford and Thomason, the latter leading by a few votes yesterday.

On the South side Miss Jones is leading, but Miss Pirle has received over 2,000 votes since our last report. Remember the contest has more than ten weeks to run yet.

Although a candidate may be ahead this week, is no sign that the count will remain with her.

HOW THEY STAND.

NORTH SIDE.

Miss Mertie Willford, Noerck, 3,090

Miss Cora Thomason, Heflin, 3,187

SOUTH SIDE.

Miss Bertha Pirle, Hartford, 8,760

AUGUSTUS E. WILSON FORMALLY ANNOUNCES

His Candidacy for Gubernatorial Nomination of the Proud Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Hon. Augustus E. Wilson has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor of Kentucky in the following statement:

"I am earnestly grateful for the good will and in many cases the affection shown to me by our people here in Louisville, and in many counties throughout the State, as Republican nominee for Governor, and I shall feel strong confidence of election if nominated, and above all I should prize no beyond my price and sacrifice the honor of being chosen and trusted by the choice of the people to work for the good of my native State as Governor of Kentucky, and if I should be chosen as the Republican administration, in the hope that it would be a blessing to the State and revive its old-time glory old-fashioned honest pride in Kentucky and in Kentuckians, and would seek to make the Republican party in Kentucky a better party with new ideals, new hopes, in step with the best thought and best work of this age of progress."

"I should also hope that Republican success in Kentucky would free Kentucky Democracy from the thrall of organized greed and graft, prejudice and practices of proscription and hate, and inspire the Democratic hosts with new and kindly preaching and practice, patriotism and public spirit, to the end that in the future we may reach the ideal condition in which all may hope that all future party rivalry in Kentucky shall be contests between parties equally honest, earnest and hard working, to see which can do most to honor and bless the State, and better the conditions, the comforts and the happiness of all its people, and to clear away the feuds, jealousies and malicious rivalries between and within all parties, places and sections, and to make Kentucky one of the foremost instead of one of the most backward States of our country in all that makes for noble thought and feeling and splendid achievement."

"I believe that I can secure substantially a fair election in Jefferson county, and there are a number of grounds upon which I can reasonably expect to have the support of many thousands now in the Democratic ranks, some of whom were formerly Republicans, and some who have never voted for Republicans before, and that these votes will be sufficient to win a victory for good government, and this makes me feel it a duty to undertake the campaign if the Republican party nominates me, and to hope that the nomination will be made."

"At the same time I wish it understood that I do not make any claim on the Republican party, and I do not admit any claims on me which in any way could hinder or embarrass me in performing my duty under the law in partially, fairly and justly to all in all matters connected with the office."

"Let us all agree that we shall do all in our power to have the people choose their delegates according to their own wishes, and without dictation or unfair influence, and let us have a friendly and fair convention, without any contested delegates, and the fair unbiased judgment of that convention as to the nominees and the selection of a ticket composed of men who have done their duty and can be trusted to work ably, hard and unselfishly for the real good of the State, in the hope that a Republican administration be chosen in this spirit will be a blessing to the State."

"May we not hope that all of our people and both of our parties will enter upon a new period which shall make a clear line of separation between this new era and the period of political bitterness, hate, proscription and demagoguery through which we have so recently passed?"

"Can we not all now and here highly resolve to wipe out hate and abuse, to extend the glad hand and helping hand to every neighbor and brother, to dispel and shake off the faults and mistakes from which neither side has been free, even in their own misdeeds, and to highly resolve that Kentucky shall no longer be frowning, angry and censorious, but shall be the good, old-time, warm-hearted, great-hearted and glorious Kentucky."

"In this spirit I have pledged my devotion to the cause of humanity and good government, to the ending of hates and feuds, of abuse and reproach to good will to all our people without regard as to party or sect, to liberty, ideal liberty, liberty under the Constitution and the law, liberty in society and association, liberty in opinion, in party and in creed."

"I stand for a spirit of courtesy and kindly rivalry between parties, to work to realize the hope that in time both that the other should be true to all interests of this State nobly and unselfishly and that all our people will come to wish that no American party should be unworthy of the people's trust, and that each party should wish blessed in the effort to bring it to pass that it believes is best, in order that, whichever shall succeed, the people will be safe, and I shall hope to be blessed in the effort to bring it to pass that every soul throughout the State, in whatever condition, happy or unhappy, shall come to feel the brotherhood of man and the blessings of working together in a friendly and helping spirit, instead of working in enmity or hard feeling, and shall work and pray to bring it to pass that in Kentucky at last every one shall find better chance for comfort and happiness for all our people, which makes for noble thought and feeling, to endow and foster splendid schools and colleges open to the poorest boys and girls, to study and learn the best ways to increase our rich harvests in quantity and quality, to improve our roads and all our ways of transportation, and to build up every good line and idea in commerce, manufacture and transportation to widen the fields of work in the hope and faith of seeing achieved some of the visions of happiness and welfare to which all good men and women have clung through all the years of hopes chilled by disappointment and suffering."

"For these ideals and hopes I shall earnestly seek help above and beyond my own strength."

PROTECTION FROM HOUSE FIRE.

By an Outlay Only of Two Cents Per Acre Per Annum.

Fire has always been the worst enemy of the forest. In many cases the risk of fire is so great after lumbering that land owners have not tried any system of conservative logging, but have instead cut the forest clean in the belief that young timber would be burned. If left, before it could attain sufficient growth for a second crop. This is almost the rule in the heavy forests of the Pacific coast, where fires have been so prevalent that they have come to be regarded as a necessary evil. A single fire among young trees may not always kill them, but it will check their growth and they will be very susceptible to insect attacks and fungous diseases. Recurring fires, however, at last destroy the whole forest stand, and then chaparral takes possession. On cut-over lands there is usually a great accumulation of debris, and this encourages fire, so that one of the first steps in fire protection is some provision for the removal of debris.

In 1904 the forest service, in co-operation with the state of California, made a thorough study of forest conditions and their relation to fire on the tract of the McCloud River Lumber Company in Siskiyou county, Cal.

The chief object of this study was to devise some practical system of forest protection. The results, which are now published in circular 79 of the forest service, show that (1) by proper care and the execution of certain measures it is possible to decrease or even to eliminate the danger from forest fires, (2) that such protective measures may be carried out at a reasonable cost, and (3) that the results in most cases will fully justify the necessary expenditures.

The plan adopted, which aims to prevent fires from starting by means of patrol along carefully laid-out routes, was executed so successfully that it has since been extended to all the holdings of the company. Telephone and tool stations have been established, and broad fire lines on which the slash was burned have been run through cut-over land. The cost of all this was about 2 cents per acre per annum.

The details of this plan, accompanied by a description of the tract and the forest types, and an estimate of cut-over lands protected from fire are given in the circular which is entitled "The Control of Forest Fires at McCloud, Cal." This publication will be sent free upon application to the forester, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.

AMBITION TO DO ABSOLUTELY NOTHING

Men Who are no Good in This World Not Liable to be in Next.

Some men have the ambition to do things. Then the world hears of an Alexander, a Caesar, a Napoleon, a Grant.

Other men there are, says the London Mail, whose only ambition it to do nothing, not even "sit by the fire and spin." When such men die the world says: "Good riddance; there goes nobody."

Men who have ambition to do nothing are found everywhere. They are the curse of society the drag of business and the dregs in the cup of life.

The other day a young man was discharged from his position by his employer. In extenuation of himself he said: "Why do you discharge me? I have done nothing." "Yes," said the employer, "that is just the reason I done anything."

Years ago a young man wrote to a famous clergyman, asking him to find an easy position for him, and the reply is said to have been: "My dear boy, there is only one easy place, and that is in the grave." Yet there are many young men who are in search of the "soft snap," content forever to sit down doing nothing, being nothing; living idle, aimless lives.

Such men as these are forgetful of the fact that wealth without labor, position without use of that position and leisure unearned are the very things that take away the zest of life fill the mind of man with unutterable bitterness and mad jealousies that inflame the passions and incite to the performance of the worst deeds. Nothing comes from nothing is the old law of life. It needs to be emphasized again and again. Every great creation of art, every masterpiece in literature, every victory for the right and truth has been won at the price of hard and continuous labor.

Behind every great action there is a great heart. Behind every noble creation there is an aspiring soul. If a boy refuses to master his lessons he is simply widening the distance between him and the delectable mountain of an achieved success and is preparing himself for a life of uselessness, sloth and contemptible idleness.

A boy reading a Bible lesson came to the words Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. Reading and unable to pronounce them, he skipped them. A few days afterward, reading the same lesson in an examination, and still unable to pronounce the hard names, he said: "There's them fellers again." Everyday life means a daily meeting of some Shadrach, Meshach or Abednego, and unless mastered there is absolutely no advance.

Work is valuable, not simply because of the outward things it constructs, such as bridges, ships and towers. More useful is it in the secret character that it constructs, enabling the building of greater things as the years roll by.

The idler, the dawdler can not be a happy or a useful citizen. He who sits by the fire and loaf will soon want a fire and a loaf to satisfy his hunger and warm his miserable body.

"This little pig went to market," doesn't amuse to-night. Baby's not well; what's the matter, her dear little cheeks are so white; Poor little tummy is aching, naughty little pain go away, Cuckoo mother must give her, then she'll be bright as the day. It is sold here by all druggists. m

Call for Republican Convention.

The Ohio County Republican Executive Committee met at the Court House in Hartford pursuant to call of the chairman, Saturday, April 27, at 1 p. m. The committee was called to order by Chairman Ragland and a roll call by the Secretary showed a quorum present either in person or by proxy. After the objects of the meeting had been stated by the chairman, on motion it was ordered that a mass convention of the Republican electors of Ohio county be held at the Court House in Hartford June 15 at 1:30 p. m., standard time, to select delegates and Alternates to attend the Republican State Convention to be held in the city of Louisville June 19th, 1907, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, and other State officers, to be voted for at the November election, 1907. This is to conform to the call issued by the State Central Committee, and under which the county will be entitled to 31 delegates.

On motion, it was further ordered that a delegated convention be held at the court house in Hartford on June 15, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative in the next General Assembly from this 26th district, to be voted for at the November election, 1907. It was ordered that mass conventions be held in each voting precinct at the polling place, Saturday, June 8, 1907, at 2 o'clock p. m., standard time, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the county convention June 15, 1907. The basis of representation shall be one delegate for each twenty-five, or fraction over twelve votes cast for Judge W. B. Taylor in the county election at November election, 1905.

Upon the above basis the various precincts will be entitled to the following representation: E. Hartford 7, W. Hartford 7, Bada 5, Sulphur Springs 6, Magan 3, Cromwell 5, Cool Springs 3, North Rockport 4, South Rockport 3, Select 4, Horse Branch 5, Rosine 8, East Beaver Dam 3, West Beaver Dam 6, McHenry 5, Centertown 6, Smallhouse 2, East Fordsville 6, West Fordsville 5, Aetnaville 2, Shreve 3, Olanton 3, Buford 2, Bartlett 4, Heflin 2, Ceralvo 2, Point Pleasant 2, Narrows 3, Ralph 3, Prentiss 2, Herbert 1, Arnold 3, Rander 4. Total 129, necessary to choice 65.

LOPSIDED BRIT- ISH FREE-TRADE.

It Swallowed the Camel and Strains at the Much Talked Gnat.

We like the good-natured surprise of the German Court who asked in the Reichstag yesterday for the name of the inventor of the fairy tale that Great Britain was a Free-Trade country. After careful calculations, he had established the fact that the amount per head of the custom duties was higher in Great Britain than anywhere else, and that she paid 15.80 marks per head as against 10.49 in Germany. Looked at every way, we inflict on ourselves by academic adherence to the name of Free-Trade greater handicaps for less purpose than the most ardent Protectionists abroad. Our custom duties are largely on things which, in Count Posadowsky's phrase are necessities of existence, if we take into consideration the climate of the country and the habit of the population. We have swallowed the camel and strain at the gnat. The lopsided Free-Trade which heavily taxes tea and tobacco, but is horrified at a duty on pianos, punishes the laborer and hampers the manufacturer. Even the notion of a duty on flour appalls us, though it would make our mills flourish, cheapen the now expensive by-products of the grain, and not raise the price of bread. Foreigners may well look on Free-Trade as a fairy tale. The Free-Trader, indeed, much resembles the character in a German fairy tale. He regards himself as one so favored by the gent of the country that gold and all other blessings will come to him when he chooses to utter his wish. But he finds in fact that his boon is no greater than a black pudding, and all his resources are exhausted in transferring that to his mouth. The laborer in this country, where a beneficent soil is every year producing less food and providing fewer workers with employment, will sink as certainly as the German peasant is rising if he continue to believe the fairy tales of Rumpelstiltskin politicians who hold that conditions to-day are identical with the conditions in 1846.—London "Globe."

HAUTES The Imported Thoroughbred

Stallion

Will make the remainder of the season 1907 at S. D. Myres Monday, Hartford Fair grounds Tuesday and Wednesday and at Centertown Thursday, Friday and Saturday, for the nominal sum of $10.00 to insure live colt, money due when fact is ascertained or mare parted with. This is a Stallion of fine blood, good confirmation, splendid disposition, in short, he is a fine individual stands 15½ hands high and is a rich bay with black main and tail and only 4 years old. Has splendid set of black legs, fine eyes, beautiful head and ear. This fine horse was sent to the Centertown Live Stock Co., by the Kentucky Breeding Bureau for the purpose of improving the breed of horses in Kentucky. To restore the standard of breeding to the high reputation that Kentucky has always held for fine and well bred horses. What Mr. Shouse, Secretary of Kentucky Breeding Bureau, says in his letter to the Centertown Live Stock Co:

Gentlemen: The horse we are sending is a four-year-old Bay Hautes. Presented to the Kentucky Breeding Bureau by the Hon. August Belmont of New York. He was brought to this country at the foot of his dam. Imported Hautesse by Archduke and for the mare and colt Mr. Belmont paid $25,000 at public auction. Ladass, the sire of Hautes is one of the foremost sires of England at the present time. The horse is a splendid individual and there is none better bred in America. Indeed on Breeding alone, he is well worthy a trial at the stud by any breeder of thoroughbred stock in the entire country.

We would be glad to have you call and see for your self and if you are satisfied with our stock and its breeding we will be delighted to do business with you. A YEAR WITH- OUT A SUMMER

Snow and Ice Prevailed in June,
July and August in 1816.

The year 1816 was known throughout the United States and Europe as the coldest ever experienced by any person then living. There are persons in Northern New York who have been in the habit of keeping diaries for years, and it is from the pages of an old diary begun in 1810 and kept up unbroken regarding this year without a summer has been taken:

January was so mild that most persons allowed their fires to go out and did not burn wood except for cooking. There were a few cool days, but they were very few. Most of the time the air was warm and springlike. February was not cold. Some days were colder than any in January, but the weather was about the same. March, from the 1st to the 6th, was inclined to be windy. It came in like a small lion and went out like a very innocent sheep.

April came in warm, but as the days grew longer, the air became colder, and by the first of May there was a temperature like that of winter, with plenty of snow and ice. In May the young buds were frozen dead, ice formed half an inch thick on ponds and rivers, corn was killed and the cornfields were planted again and again, until it became too late to raise a crop. By the last of May in this climate the trees are usually in leaf and birds and flowers are plentiful. When the last of May arrived in 1816 everything had been killed by the cold.

June was the coldest month of roses ever experienced in this latitude. Frost and ice were as common as buttercups usually are. Almost every green thing was killed; all fruit was destroyed. Snow fell ten inches deep in Vermont. There was a seven-inch fall in the interior of New York State and the same in Massachusetts. There were only a few moderately warm days. Everybody looked longed and waited for warm weather, but warm weather did not come.

It was also dry; very little rain fell. All summer long the wind blew steadily from the north in blasts, laden with snow and ice. Mothers knit socks of double thickness for their children and made thick mittens. Planting and shivering were done together and the farmers who worked out their taxes on the country roads wore over coats and mittens.

On June 17 there was a heavy fall of snow. A Vermont farmer sent a flock of sheep to pasture on June 16. The morning of the 17th dawned with the thermometer below the freezing point. About 9 o'clock in the morning the owner of the sheep started to look for his flock. Before leaving home he turned to his wife and said, jokingly:

"Better start the neighbors soon; it's the middle of June and I may get lost in the snow."

An hour after he had left home a terrible snowstorm came up. The snow fell thick and fast, and as there was so much wind, the fleecy masses piled in great drifts along the windward side of the fences and outbuildings. Night came and the farmer had not been heard of.

His wife became frightened and alarmed the neighborhood. All the neighbors joined the searching party. On the third day they found him. He was lying in a hollow on the side hill with both feet frozen; he was half-covered with snow, but alive. Most of the sheep were lost.

A farmer near Tewksbury, Vt., owned a large field of corn. He built fires. Nearly every night he and his men took turns in keeping up the fire and watching that the corn did not freeze. The farmer was rewarded for his tireless labors by having the only crop of corn in the region.

July came in with snow and ice. On the Fourth of July ice as thick as window glass formed throughout New England, New York and in some parts of the State of Pennsylvania. Indian corn, which in some parts of the East had struggled through May and June gave up, froze and died.

To the surprise of everybody, August was the worst month of all. Almost every green thing in this country and Europe was blasted with frost. Snow fell at Barnet, 30 miles from London, England, on August 30. Newspapers received from England stated that 1816 would be remembered by the existing generation as the year in which there was no summer. Very little corn ripened in New England. There was great privation, and thousands of persons would have perished in this country had it not been for the abundance of fish and wild game.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe catarrh, chronic coughs, bronchitis, and various troubles and chronic sore throat with hemorrhages. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most meritorious cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "Indigestion it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon encrusted, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of proctitis (hemorrhoids) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the valuable medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

BOWLING GREEN VOTES AGAINST SALOONS.

"Drys" win Election in the City
by 229--Ten Arrests Made For Bribery.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 6.—The local option election held here to-day was one of the most exciting and hotly contested in the history of the city and was won by the "drys" by a majority of 229. The "wets" carried only one precinct in the city and this by a much smaller majority than they anticipated. The entire vote cast was 2,029.

Hundreds of women were at the polls serving coffee and sandwiches free and several thousand people were in town from the country. The "drys" got out their vote early and led from the start.

Ten different persons who were workers for the wets were arrested on warrants charging bribery, attempted bribery, accepting bribes and intimidating voters. Bail was made for them at once by the whisky men and they were released, their trials being set for Tuesday.

The workers on the wet side were followed all day long by good women. Wherever they went the women would go and when they button-holed a voter the women were there to hear what they would say. Many of the better element of the colored voters voted dry and this helped to carry the election.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by all druggists.

INITIAL BANQUET OF KENTUCKIANS

First Gathering of Kentucky Society of Louisiana Proves Most Enjoyable Affair.

The New Orleans Item contains the following which will be of interest to Ohio countians:

"Organized no more than about four weeks ago, the Kentucky Society of Louisiana gave its first banquet last night at the St. Charles Hotel with forty-two members present.

The feast was one of the most enjoyable given in this city in a long while the intense love of their native State and loyalty to the adopted home, Louisiana, being the keynote of the address delivered by the Kentuckians during the evening.

The menu, though lacking the sparkling spring water of "Old Kentucky," left nothing to be desired in the way of edibles, and sweet Abita water, with the assistance of the little brown jug, "bred" in old Kentucky, and looking as though he had just stepped out of Green River picture, left no excuse for any of the feasters to go a-thirst.

Grace was said by Rev. C. C. V. Edwards, and Col. John C. Wickliffe, the president of the society, acting as toastmaster, introduced the first speaker of the evening, Col. Shelby Taylor, mayor of Crowley, to respond as the toastmaster put it, "to the toast to the country God made—Kentucky."

Mr. Taylor eloquently discussed the history of his native State and called attention to the achievements of the Kentuckian all over the country, saying that the sons of Kentucky are to be found in all of the walks of life, reaping honors, earning wealth and adding to the wellbeing of the nation everywhere.

The sentiments expressed all breathed of a fervent love for Kentucky, a feature of the evening, distinguishing the banquet from all held here, being the eloquence of all of the speakers.

There was not one dull address, and though the speakers were doctors, railroad men, soldiers and business men, as well as lawyers, the speeches would any of them, have done credit to men cultivating a reputation as orators, and in the lines recalled by one of the speakers "Orators are the grandest, in Kentucky."

The sentiments proposed and those who responded were as follows:

Grace, Chaplain C. V. Edwards. Opening address, President John C. Wickliffe.

Kentucky, Col. Shelby Taylor. Louisiana, Prof. Alice Fortier, President Louisiana Historical Society.

The Bluegrass, Capt. P. S. Morris. The Bluegrass, Mr. Ernest T. George.

Tobacco Crop Short.

From the best reports obtainable now it seems that the tobacco crop will be short in almost every section of the country this year. This coupled with the fact that the internal revenue receipts, as published every month in the tobacco journals, show a large increase in consumption over corresponding months of 1906, is very encouraging to the farmer who has last year's crop in pool.

Under the old system of marketing with the government reports indicating last fall that we had produced a very large crop, it is very doubtful if the producer could have received outright as much as was advanced him, and under the pooling plan he has had that much money already, and now has the assurance of more to help tide him over a bad crop year.

Great, indeed, is Equity and he who would cast one straw in the path of this liberator of the farmer is an enemy of his country.

The bluest man in the land to-day is the poor fellow who disregarded the advice of President J. A. Everitt, given last June, and dumped his wheat. The speculator who said Everitt was a fool is now raking in the coin, and the dumper knows who was the fool.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mound City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine, that saved his life and completely cured him." Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, by all druggists. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

OLD GRANT GUARD TO HOLD REUNION.

Historic Republican Convention of 1880 Called to Mind.

When the Republican National convention assembles next year, one of the features of the meeting, aside from the work of the convention itself will be the reunion of the survivors of the solid battalion of delegates who stood by Gen. Grant when he was running for a third-term re-election in 1880. There were 206 votes in the Grant delegation, and they fought through thirty-six ballots, finally going down with the banner of their leader nailed to the mast, while James A. Garfield captured the honors without any formal nomination before the convention.

The convention of 1880 stands alone as regards staunch and unbroken fidelity to the fortunes of a losing candidate. There was no wavering in the Grant battalion and while a few stragglers from time to time voted with the main force, when there was any change, it was due to accessions such as these.

There were no Ohioans in the 396 votes for General Grant. From the first ballot the Ohio delegation of 44 votes kept its line in tact, and the whole force was outside the Grant breastworks. General Garfield had nominated John Sherman before the convention and with 33 other members of the Ohio delegation he voted for Sherman for 35 ballots. The vote of the Ohio delegation stood 34 for Sherman, 9 for Blaine and 1 for Edmunds. In the confusion of the 35th ballot there was a movement among the Blaine adherents of other States to break away from their leader and support Garfield, and despite the protest of the President-to-be, the tide turned with a sweep, and when the 36th ballot had been counted, Garfield was the nominee. The Ohio delegation voted solidly for him, save that Garfield himself stood mute, and did not cast his ballot.

The final returns, however, showed the Grant battalion still solid in defeat.

No one seems to care if Mexico should give Guatemala a sound spanking.

Wise counsel should prevail in constructing our State platform, next week.

The cool spring seems to have had no effect upon the crop of June brides.

Beef is about high enough for the vegetarian to accomplish something with his argument.

Governor Hughes must understand that this country cannot stand two "big sticks" at one time.

The Governor seems to be taking good aim before firing his gun load of officers for the city of Louisville.

A life prisoner in a Belgian prison married the daughter of his jailer. At least one wife is able to keep her husband in at night.

If the Republicans expect to carry Ohio county this fall, they will have to turn out better in November than they did last Saturday.

It is too cruel for poor old Democracy to be frightened every few days with a rumor that Bryan is about to come out for Roosevelt.

Commissioner Blackburn has sent back word to his friends that he is enjoying life in Panama, and that $14,000 salary immensely.

The friends of Haywood the Idaho prisoner, who is being tried for murder, by wholesale, should send for Jim Hargis to help select juries and, if necessary arrange for Judges and change of venue.

Republican delegates to the State convention next week should remember that they are merely empowered to nominate a State ticket and write a platform. Any attempt to nominate a candidate for President will not only be going out of their jurisdiction, but rendering valueless the work for which they are called, as well. Let us cross one bridge at a time.

Evidence is beginning to show that the Democrats are going to use the Caleb Powers trial, now set for July 29, as the strongest card in the State campaign. However, if we mistake not the people have grown disgusted with this sort of business, and on all sides can be heard the remark, why convict Powers and let Hargis go free? Why have they let the long months go by, while Powers languished in jail, without giving him a trial? This is a case in which the voters are justified in removing it from Judge and jury. Powers should either be given a decent trial or pardoned.

The conventions held in the various precincts of Ohio county by the Republicans last Saturday to determine their choice for a member of the House of Representatives, seems from the returns to have resulted in no choice. That is, no one has enough instructed votes to win on first ballot. The situation furnishes an opportunity for a display of bad temper, such as our Democratic friends furnished us recently, or for cool dispassionate action and a display of wisdom in the convention to-morrow which will commend us to the independent intelligent voter. Let harmony prevail.

Call of Daviess County Equity Warehouse Company.

At the last District meeting of the Green River District, the Home warehouse people made a proposition to finance the whole district on the same basis as Louisville Warehouse Company and turn the tobacco over to the regular elected executive committee, but they refused to accept of the proposition, altho it would save fifty cents drayage and a dollar and a half freight on each hoghead. Now as a result of the strange action of the Louisville faction it is strongly urged by many growers of tobacco to call a mass convention of all who are in favor of home storage and home finances at the earliest possible date and in pursuance to this request the call is made for the people to meet June 15th at the court house in Owensboro.

Plant Bed Ruined in Hopkins.
Madisonville, Ky., June 11.—The plant bed of Gordie Hoover, a well-known farmer living several miles from this city, was raided by unknown parties and ruined. This is the first tobacco plant bed that has been destroyed in Hopkins county, and everything has been running very smoothly for several months.

Mr. Hoover telephoned to Madisonville for bloodhounds to trace the men who did the work, but as yet no clew has been obtained as to the guilty parties. He had been offered $50 for his plants, but had refused.

The Dark Tobacco Growers' association is very strong in this county and it is said that Mr. Hoover was not a member of the organization. The A. B. of E. is also very strong here, and several organizers are at work here now, organizing the farmers into the organization.

Every effort is being made to capture the men who destroyed the plants of Mr. Hoover, and the officials of the county will not tolerate any lawlessness of this kind at all.

COOPER SCHOOLHOUSE.

June 10.—Mrs. G. W. Gordon, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Allen, of near Hartford, returned home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Allen and little daughter, Francis, attended the Johnson-Allen wedding last Wednesday.

Had quite a heavy rain fall at this place to-day.

Misses Orpha and Marie Stevens, Mr. Elbert Oglesby and Miss Beattie Wise attended the ice cream and strawberry supper at Taylor Mines, Saturday night. They were accompanied home by Miss Mattie Wise.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Taylor and daughters, Jessie and Vera, visited at Mr. J. L. Allens' Sunday.

On account of bad weather farmers are very much behind with their farm work.

Some of our young folks attended children's day at No creek Sunday.

Miss Olive Gordon is visiting her sister, Mrs. Roy Brown.

Mr. Estli Arbuckle, wife and son visited at Mr. Henry Stevens' Sunday.

Quite a number of folks from here attended church at Prentiss Sunday.

Lightning Strikes Equity Warehouse.

Livermore Ky., June 12.—During a severe electrical and rain storm this afternoon the new Equity warehouse at this place was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. One side of the building was torn to pieces, and the entire building and contents would probably have been burned but for the heavy rain that was falling.

The tobacco was not damaged to any considerable extent. The loss on the building is covered by insurance.

Strayed.

One dark red cow, dehorned, star in forehead about five years old and marked split in right and under slope in left ear. Liberal reward for any information leading to her recovery.

YOU MAY NOT THINK OF IT BUT IT DOES

Copyright 1906 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

Makes a big difference to you who makes the clothes you wear; especially if the maker is willing to tell you what he makes them of—and how.

That's one thing we like about Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes; they are made of strictly all-wool fabrics and the makers seem to want everybody to know it. They advertise the fact extensively; it's the most important fact about any clothes.

There are plenty of good looking clothes for sale that are not all all-wool; the makers don't claim that they are; they don't say much about it.

We like to sell clothes that our customers can be positive about; goods that you don't have to take anybody's word for; clothes you know are good. It's easy to sell such clothes; a satisfaction to everybody.

Notice to Road Overseers.

The time limit fixed by me under direction of the Fiscal Court for all public roads in Ohio county to be put in good condition for travel will expire on July 6. Some overseers have put their roads in fair condition but some have utterly failed. I have been very lenient with the defaulting ones but as I am held responsible for the condition of the roads I must insist that every overseer, who has not done so, proceed at once to put their roads in good condition. Upon your failure to do this I shall be compelled to report you to the County Attorney whose duty it will be to prosecute you for such failure.

Mr. Elijah Williams, of near Paradise, was tried before Esq. B. S. Chamberlain Tuesday, on a writ of lunacy and committed to the Asylum at Hopkinsville. His troubles resulted from a severe attack of grippe.

The Hartford M. E. church South has purchased from Mr. J. W. Ford the lot, corner of Center and Liberty streets, formerly known as the Morton residence property, and will next spring begin the erection of a handsome church on the site. The purchase price was $2,500.

There is an ordinance of the city of Hartford providing that abutting property owners shall cut and remove all vegetation from the sidewalks. It is enforceable why not have some cutting and removing done. If it is not enforceable why not have some cutting and removing done at the expense of the town.

Many complaints are being made concerning the condition of Oakwood cemetery. Recently, when decoration services were held there, it was impossible for ladies to go from one grave to another because of rank vegetation. This should be remedied. If there is not sufficient money to do it, a subscription should be started.

"Bible Sunday" was observed last Sunday at the Baptist church. The exercises were in the main by the children though the oldest persons, pastor, superintendent and others made short talks. A nice collection was raised to go to a fund for the free distributing of the bible among the needy. Rev. Gardner filled his regular appointment morning and evening.

Only a little cold in the head may be the beginning of an obstinate case of Nasal Catarrh. Drive out the invader with Ely's Cream Balm applied straight to the inflamed stuffed up air-passages. Price 50c. If you prefer to use an atomizer, ask for Liquid Cream Balm. It has all the good qualities of the remedy in solid form and will rid you of Catarrh or Hay Fever. No cocaine to breed a dreadful habit. No mercury to dry out the secretion. Price 75c., with spraying tube. All druggists, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

A couple of serious errors crept into our columns last week through oversight in the mechanical department. A dead line was left in the K. P. resolutions concerning the death of the little son of Mr. John W. Taylor, and one in the account of a birthday dinner given to Mr. Wm. E. Ward. The lines were marked out by the proof reader but were left in, and were not discovered until a large part of the issue had gone through the press, when the corrections were made. We are sorry for these errors, but they will sometimes occur in the best regulated offices.

The Weather Condition

Has made us another week late. This season hasn't been normal, and looks as if it never would be. We bought, anticipating a heavy spring business, but under the condition haven't had the demand that we anticipated. The result is, we must stand a loss.

First—To carry our stock over another year means a loss.

Second—To make a sacrifice now and sell at a bargain means a loss. Between the two we prefer the latter. We are going to create a demand for our merchandise by a reduction of prices.

ON JUNE 21-22

We are going to make a reduction of 10 per cent. on all white goods in our possession. This means everything that we possess that is white. India Linens, Swisses, White Waisting Linens, Nansooks, Bleached Cottons, Sheeting, Laces, Embroideries, Lace Curtains, White Canvass Shows for Men, Ladies and Children and lots of other things too numerous to mention. This is a real mark down without a previous mark up.

In addition to the above mark down, we are going to join the Sewing Circle of the M. E. Church for the two days mentioned and will give to this society 3 per cent. of our net cash sales. Now why not help yourself, help the church and help us? Let's see what you are willing to do for the Sewing Circle and at the same time get value received.

Yours respectfully,

GROOM FIVE TIMES WEIGHT OF BRIDE

Cupid Brings Down Georgia Giant to Feet of Tiny Woman.

Atlanta, Ga., June 12.—Cupid has been hunting big game in Georgia, and the tiny god's unerring shaft has transfixed the heart of the champion mastodontic Elk of the world, W. T. Brinson, who tips the scale at just 570 pounds, a little more than five times the weight of his bride.

Mr. Brinson, biggest of bridegrooms, is a wealthy turpentine distiller, and his neighbors assert that he has the biggest heart in Georgia. It probably weighs more to begin with, but in it is a corner for everybody. With young Mrs. Brinson—she is twenty-two and he is forty-four—occupying the star corner of them all.

As his fiancée lived at Seberton, about 100 miles from his Waycross home, Mr. Brinson did his courting by mail. There is not a railway car that can accommodate a traveler with a girth of more than eight feet and a knee measurement of two feet eight inches. He tried it once, but had to stand up in the baggage car all the 100 miles.

If he could get into a car he would have to occupy four seats, one pair facing the other, as his shirt would project right over the seats in front of him.

When everything was ready for the wedding, the bride-groom traveled to meet her fiancée, and was received at the station by Mr. Brinson, beaming expansively, seated in his big new buggy, especially built for two. This is a wonderful vehicle. It can hold four ordinary people, the wheels are extra strong. It is reinforced all over to make it safe for this formidable bridegroom.

When she went over her new home, little Mrs. Brinson, who weighs only 105 pounds, gazed with wonder at the furniture. Mr. Brinson's room is fitted with extra large things, all reinforced. The chairs are double the size of ordinary ones. The bed has springs which are knitted double, and the slats are made of the heart of oak, the strongest wood that can be had.

As a matter of fact, nearly everything that Mr. Brinson possesses must be made to order. His suits take three times the quantity of cloth used for the ordinary man. His knee is twice as much around as his wife's slim waist. His collar is twenty-two inches around—nothing like that can be had ready made.

Life.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thou sands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more bounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

The Famous Mr. Harriman.

The Harriman letter controversy recalled the fact that I made the acquaintance of Mr. Harriman during the closing days of Congress, and I must confess that I was greatly impressed with the strong personality of this small size man, who has proved such a gigantic power in the railroad world.

He entered the Marble Room with his son, a bright lad of about fourteen, and the two were evidently enjoying their talk together, perfectly oblivious of all surroundings. It is plain that he shuns society and loves best the associations of his own hearthstone. One cannot meet a man of such tremendous ability, with his young son by his side without realizing that, after all, the real man is expressed in his paternal affection.

It does not require an acute observer to see that Mr. Harriman is an aggressive and forceful personality. When he grasps a man's hand, and looks him square in the eye the brown eyes behind the glasses indicate a keen mental vision. There is a certain sternness when business matters are mentioned which quickly passes away as other subjects come up. Mr. Harriman gave an ordial greeting to several senators, whom he met in the Marble Room, and then the change of expression was at once apparent; but there was an air of fearlessness and candor about him, whether talking with senators or with the lad by his side.

After all is said and done, there is something about this much-talked of man that gives one the impression that it may not have been pure selfishness and greed of money that impelled his great achievements in the re-organization of the railroad system with which he has become prominent.—Joe Mitchell Chaplin, in Publisher's Department in National Magazine for June.

Money for an Individual
To Have.

The man who has a million dollars in his pocket and a philanthropic work on his hands soon finds that, so far as his philanthropy is concerned, he is one of the most homeless and helpless objects in the world.

The world does not want his philanthropy. It wants his million dollars. It does not even want to hear what he has to say about philanthropy. It wants to hear how he got his million dollars.

If there is a particular set of poor people he is interested in, the best way for him to raise money for them would be to tell other people how to get rich. If he were to open an office and give consultations, heart-to-heart talks on how he supported himself, he could support a dozen charities with his daily fees.

If there were any arrangement by which a millionaire could be told at sight—if he were compelled by law to wear a coat, for instance, with a dollar sign on it, amount specified—there is scarcely a city in the world where he would not be followed by crowds in the streets. Even as it is, he is often reminded that he is a sight in spite of himself. The word passes around if he enters a restaurant, and when he hides in his hotel people stand in line to see his name on the register.

The world envies him for one thing it never forgives. Whichever way he turns in his attempt to carry out some larger design for the world, he finds that his million dollars are in the way. He cannot do the work all alone, and he cannot find the men to help him.

He spends nearly all his time in discovering that the men who appear to help him are helping themselves. They are not the same men with him that they are with others. They are paralyzed by his money. He cannot get at men, somehow, as they are.

He finds himself defeated at every point, either by his own million dollars, or by some one else's desire for his million dollars. The whole getting a living machine of modern life is across his path.

It is up to Mr. Beckham.

It is now up to Mr. Beckham to see what he will do for Louisville. Some time ago he made what pur ported to be an effort to close the saloons of Louisville on Sundays, but the effort was of short duration.

While he was a candidate before the Democratic primary for the nomination of United States Senator he then posed as an ardent temperance man.

Now the people have an opportunity to see whether or not he was sincere in his claims. The Appellate Court has unseated all the officials of the city of Louisville and the Governor will have the power of appointing men to fill the vacancies until the November election. In making these appointments he has an opportunity to so select his men that his temperance ideas can and will be carried out to the letter and the saloons closed every Sunday. Now the question is will he do it? If he does then we will be forced to admit that he was acting in good faith at the time he was pretending to make an effort to close the saloons. If he does not it will be conclusive evidence that he was only playing to the galleries and did not want to interfere with the saloon business of Louisville.

But now he must show his hand. He can not frame up any excuse that will pacify the people. He has the opportunity to find out before he makes his appointments whether or not the parties he is about to name to the respective offices will join in carrying out his ideas of Sunday closing, and if they will not he need not appoint them but should appoint those who will.

If he appoints a temperance ticket he will incur the displeasure of the saloon element throughout the State, but if he fails to appoint a temperance ticket he will incur the displeasure of the temperance people throughout the State, and they can justly accuse him of insincerity, so now it is up to Mr. Beckham to act and we will wait with patience and see what he will do in this matter.—Mountain Advocate.

TO PROBE EVERY SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Judge Birkhead Instructs County Attorney to Act—Law Has Been Disregarded.

Hereafter, a person obtaining divorce in the Daviess circuit court will have to convince the court beyond the possibility of a doubt that there is just ground for a judgment. Judge Birkhead entered an order yesterday directing that a strict investigation of every divorce case be made by the county attorney as soon as possible after the filing of the petition, and the fact reported to the court.

The language of the order is, "It is ordered by the court that in each and every case for divorce brought in this court that immediately upon the petition being filed, the clerk of this court shall refer the same to the county attorney of Daviess county who shall at once investigate and file his report in writing upon the merits thereof and for which service he shall receive as compensation a fee of not less than $5 to be taxed as costs."

The law upon which this order is based is section 2119 of the Kentucky statutes and is, "No petition for divorce shall be taken for confessed or be sustained by admission of the defendant alone, but must be supported by other proof. Two witnesses, or one and strong corroborating circumstances shall be necessary to sustain the charge of adultery or lewdness. The credibility or good character of such witnesses must be personally known to the judge or officer taking the deposition, who shall so certify, or it must be proven. It shall be the duty of the attorney for the county to resist every application for divorce, and, if successful, in defeating it, he shall be allowed a fee not exceeding $50 may be compelled to pay by attachment."

County Attorney Finn began the work of investigating and reporting divorce petitions yesterday. Before judgment was entered in the Lefford case, the county attorney had reported that there were no grounds on which the petition could be successfully resisted.—Owensboro Messenger.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS
The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

DID A WHALE SWALLOW JONAH?

The Court is Asked to Decide This Ever Recurring Question.

St. Louis, Mo., June 12.—Rev. Gustavus A. Hoffmann, who is being sued by the Bible College of Missouri for $5,000, for subscription to said school, announces that he would take the deposition of J. W. McGarvey, president of the Bible College of the Kentucky University at Lexington; J. W. Lord, editor of the Christian Standard, of Cincinnati; F. W. Crabbett, president of Bethany College, West Virginia, and D. R. Duncan, president of the Bible College at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa.

Many other noted Bible teachers will be called as witnesses by Hoffmann, who will try to show that the Bible College of Missouri is in league with the University of Chicago, which Hoffmann denominated as a hotbed of infidelity.

All of these witnesses are said to have implicit faith in the story that the whale swallowed Jonah and it is expected that they will repudiate the Bible College of Missouri on account of its teachings.

Whether Jonah was swallowed by the whale, and several other disputed points in the Bible may be legally determined next September by Judge McIlhinney, of the St. Louis County Circuit Court, where the suit is tried. The questions may be submitted to a jury of laymen to pass upon and settle for all time.

Hoffmann gave his note for $5,000 to help the Bible College that has been established at Columbia, Mo. He was employed for a time as its financial secretary and helped raise money to endow the institution.

He was discharged after two years. When the note fell due he refused to pay it because, he alleged, the college, among other things, was teaching that the story of Jonah being swallowed by the whale was a myth.

Hoffmann said that the professors of the school were also denying that Moses was the author of the Pentateuch, and that the story of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden was a fairy tale.

Attorney John F. Merryman, who is representing Hoffmann, admits that he will be somewhat at a disadvantage in proving that Jonah was actually swallowed by the sea monster, as the eye-witnesses to the event have long since died, and hearsay testimony is hard to get in a legal record.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five prescribed." Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by all druggists, 50c.

Sires and Sons.

President Roosevelt says he hasn't had a dream since he was a child. Edward Arthur Robinson, son of the late Peter Robinson, the London dry goods man, is twenty-four years old and bankrupt, having managed to get rid of $2,100,000 since he became of age.

John R. Booth, the leading lumberman in Canada, is eighty years old and owns 4,250 square miles of timber land. His mills employ 1,500 to 1,600 men during the summer, or sawing season.

J. P. Morgan is the only householder in New York below Central park who has fruit trees in his front yard. At Madison avenue and Thirty-nine street his lot has cherry and pear trees, besides magnolias.

John T. Timmons, a blind nian of Cadiz, O., has achieved a reputation as a naturalist which is not entirely local. A close student of nature, he is able to distinguish through sound many things missed by those with sight.

Edward B. Moore, the newly appointed Commissioner of Patents, is a native of Michigan and is slightly over fifty years of age. He entered the patent office as a clerk in 1883 and was made assistant commissioner of patents in 1899.

Lord Avebury, who recently celebrated his seventy-third birthday, has a partiality for insects. He once succeeded in training a wasp, which he had caught in the Pyrenees, as a household pet, an experiment which is reported to have been a great success.

Henry G. Kittredge, of Boston, considered the "dean" of American textile editors, has been induced by the new owners of Cotton, the leading technical magazine of the world, to sever his associations at Boston and to take the managing editorship of Cotton in Atlanta.

Jesse Grant, third son of the great general, is a quiet, unassuming man of about medium height and rather inclined to be stout. Comfortably off, he is engaged in the gentle art of making the time pass pleasantly. Mr. Grant lives in the Prince George hotel, New York, belongs to one or two clubs and says of himself: "I am a splendid loafer. With a good cigar I can stare at the wall contentedly for hours."

THE WONDERFUL SECRET OF GOOD MANNERS.

Two Theories of the Acquisition, Unselfishness and Conventionality.

Most mothers hold, consciously or unconsciously, one of two theories about the acquisition of manners by their children.

One mother says: "Manners are only the outward sign of the inner nature. If my daughter has a kind heart and a well trained mind she will behave in a gentle, charming fashion. I will teach her compassion, respect for age, unselfish zeal for helping with the world's work. Her manners will take care of themselves."

Another mother says: "My girls will never get on without conventional manners. They shall be taught from babyhood to emulate the speech and bearing of ladies. They shall be instructed in the proper behavior for every occasion. They shall walk and dance and write and speak with graceful perfection."

Neither method, says the Youth's Companion, produces altogether satisfactory results.

Unselfishness is truly the foundation of good manners, but not the superstructure. Many conventional restrictions have grown about social relations. Some can be explained by the demand of kindness and some can not. Could a child infer from his desire to help others that he should not eat with his knife? Many offenses against good taste interfere in some way with the rights of others, but many others not.

Still no set of rules to produce a polished lady will achieve a result fit for the strain of life. The members of the French boarding school may adorn the ballroom, but are too likely to fall at the breakfast table or in the crowded car. The woman of perfect manners must reinforce her unselfishness by social rules, and conventionally must be vitalized by the warm desire of others' pleasure. The best of life never "comes naturally," whether in manners or moral.

The secret of charming manners is the desire for them. When the mother wishes them for her daughter as much as she wishes the other goods of the world her daughter will have them.

Here's Good Advice.

O. S. Woolver, one of the best known merchants of Le Raysville, N. Y., says: "If you are ever troubled with piles, apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured me of them for good 20 years ago." Cures every sore, wound, burn or abrasion. 25c at all druggists.

Study the Girl's Mother.

When the girl grows up and young men begin to flock about her the mother must bear in mind that they, the men, are easily impressed by the girl's people and surroundings.

If the home is happy and peaceful, the mother sweet and kindly, a man naturally will say to himself: "I would like a home like this." And he will think that if the daughter will make as good a wife and mother as her own mother has been, she will be a pretty good sort of girl to marry. But if the mother is frowzy and untidy, the home and family neglected, the young man will look elsewhere for a helpmeet.

A good mother is the very best thing in all this wide world. She can be friend as well as mother to her young daughter if she goes the right way about it. It is a splendid thing to gain a young girl's confidence. She can't go very far astray if she is in the habit of confiding in her mother.

All mothers love their daughters, but all do not know best to work for the daughter's happiness.

That the children suffer for the sins of the parents is undoubtedly true, and mothers should bear this in mind. To lose the respect of her children must be the bitterest blow a woman can receive. And not to be able to regard her mother as the best woman in the world must be the saddest grief a daughter can endure.

For scratches, burns, cuts, insect bites and the many little hurts common to every family, DeWitt's Carbolic Witch Hazel Salve is the best remedy. It is soothing, cooling, clean and healing. Be sure you get DeWitt's. Sold by all druggists.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

H. B. I. Notes.

Misses Ella Bracken and Harriette Flenner, who visited their parents the past week, returned Monday. Miss May E. Rogers, assistant, returned from Beaver Dam Tuesday, where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. P. Morrison. Miss Viola Waddle has been absent the past two weeks entertaining visitors. Miss Mary Belle Jones is absent this week. Weston McIncon, Louisiana, Trimble Pendleton and Henry Griffin, Hartford, enrolled in the Eighth grade work last week. Miss Hettie Reynolds, a former student of the H. B. I., now the efficient stenographer for Joe C. Miller, Calhoun, Ky., made us a pleasant call a few days ago. She reports her work pleasant and is delighted with her position. Mrs. E. P. Stevens and son, Clinton, and daughter, Ura, Beaver Dam, were welcome visitors last week. While here Mr. Stevens made arrangements to enter the first Monday in July. Since our last notes, two of our students have accepted position here: Miss Florence Jones, with the firm of Barnes and Anderson, and Mr. Roy Heavrin in the office of M. L. Heavrin. The fact that we have placed five stenographers right here in Hartford, four of them since January, is excellent proof that Hartford is a live business town and a splendid center for a business college.

Wants to Know.

Hartford, Ky., R. F. D. No. 2, June 11, 1907. Editor Hartford Republican:—We wonder why the editor of the Hartford Herald refused to publish the communication from its Sulphur Spring correspondent last week with reference to the memorial services on Decoration day held at that place, it being a joint meeting between the Hartford and Fordsville post, and said communication (the past omitted from publication) contained the name and postoffice address of each old comrade present.

Valuable Land to be Sold.

On Monday, July 1st, at 1 o'clock p. m. I will sell my farm, situated on the Hartford and Beaver Dam Pike, one mile from the court house, at public auction. The land will be divided into lots containing from 2 to 50 acres. This land adjoins the Hartford city limits and the Phillips addition which recently sold at such fine prices. The house has 7 rooms, is in excellent repair and will be sold with 10 acres of ground, on which are 2 good wells a cistern, all necessary out buildings, and orchard. This will make an ideal suburban home, in easy reach of Hartford College. A 20 acre plot and 50 acre plot will make good small farms, splendidly situated for truck gardening.

The land will be sold in lots as indicated and as a whole, with privilege to reject bids. Terms: 1-3 cash balance in one and two years with interest.

Sale will be on premises.

To the Republicans of Ohio, Mullendberg and Butler Counties.

At a meeting of the Seventh Senatorial district, held this day, in pursuance to a call issued by M. S. Ragland Chairman for the Ohio county Executive Committee. A majority of said committee being present personally or by proxy.

After object of meeting having been stated by Chairman, it was ordered that a Delegate Convention, composed of delegates from the three counties aforesaid, be held in Beaver Dam, on June 18th, 1907, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Senator, in the next General Assembly, from this the Seventh Senatorial District, to be voted for at the November election, 1907.

It was ordered that County Delegate Conventions be held to select delegates to the Senatorial Convention, and that said County Delegate Conventions be held on Saturday, June 15th, 1907, at 2 p. m. in each of the count-seat towns of the three counties composing this Senatorial district.

It was ordered that Precinct Mass Conventions be held to select delegate to the County Delegate Conventions, and that said Precinct Mass Conventions be held on Saturday, June 8th, 1907, at 2 p. m., standard time, in each voting precinct, of each, of the three counties.

It was ordered that the basis of representation in the Senatorial Convention be at one delegate for each twenty-five (25), or fraction over twelve (12), votes cast for the Republican electors at the Presidential election of 1904.

FREE TRIP TO THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION TO BE GIVEN BY THIS PAPER.

TO TWO MOST POPULAR YOUNG LADIES IN OHIO CO.—
ONE NORTH AND ONE SOUTH OF ROUGH RIVER.

Question to be Settled By Ballot, Under Rules
Similar to Our Mammoth Cave
Trip Last Year.

Last year The Republican gave a very successful free trip to the Mammoth Cave, for Ohio county school boys, determining the favored ones by a popularity contest. We feel, this year, that the young ladies should have a chance. So we have determined to send free of any cost whatever, the most popular young lady in Ohio county, residing North of Rough river, and one residing South of the river, to the Jamestown Exposition. We do not desire to invite any trouble on the age question, and hence make no limit. Any lady who may consider herself young enough to make the trip, may enter the contest. The contest will close Saturday, August 31, at 5 o'clock p. m. The trip will be made sometime in the month of September, and the two successful ladies will be accompanied to Jamestown, one of the editors of this paper, and his wife. Every item of expense including railroad fare, hotel bills, exposition tickets, etc., will be met by this paper.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.

Every dollar paid in subscriptions to The Republican, whether arrears or advance, will entitle the person making such payment to 100 votes, and they will be recorded for any one of the candidates as directed. Amounts of less than one dollar will be credited with a proportionate vote. Any one will be allowed to vote for a candidate residing in any part of Ohio county regardless of the voter's residence.

A coupon will be printed in each issue of The Republican, and when clipped and sent to our office, will be counted as five votes for the candidate whose name appears on the same. A supply of plank ballots will be furnished to any one on application. The names and standing of the various candidates will be printed in these columns from time to time. Books will be opened, ready for votes next Monday morning, March 18. Select your candidate, and arrange to aid her in every possible way.

NOT GOOD AFTER JUNE 17.
